> A Brutal and Cowardly Outrage. Jackson Tribune and Sun: "Young Howett, aged ten years, a grandson of Mr. Pledge. the hotel man of Grand Junction, passed up to Milan a few days ago, where his grand-father was staying. Being from an infected town, although having stayed in it only a few hours, he could not remain in Milan. His grandfather, therefore, rented an isolated cabin some mile or more from town, and hired a negro woman to take the boy and stay with him until the days of his quarantine were completed. The first night the poor boy attempted to stay in the cabin was a ter-rible one in his experience. A few persons whom fear and cowardice had made brutes went to the cabin at night, brickbatted it, shot into it, and ran the poor little boy out into the night and darkness, and fired shot after shot at him as he fled in wild terror. The little fellow frightened almost out of his life, remained all night in the woods, wandering and hiding of the world at large, thanking them for what the haddened for many sending up a money. in terror, shivering in the pitiless cold, and in terror, shivering in the pitiless cold, and almost crazed with a sense of loneliness and danger, and expecting every moment to be no more. Cincinnati Commercial: "While Dr. Carr was at Gallipolis, his attention was called to a case of yellow-fever ten miles out from the place, and, in company with a resident physician, rode out in a buggy to the house of a small farmer by the name of Buck or Burke, whose son was the victim. Dr. Carr arrived at the place after nightfull, and found the farmer sitting at a watch-fire of pine-knots in front of his domical, afraid to enter it, lest he should catch the yellow-fever. The doctor made known the object of his visit. The man was glad to see him, for he said that all the rest of the family had gone, scared away by his boy's horrible sickness. He thought his boy was dead, for he had not heard him for several hours, and did not dare to enter the house. While they were talking a groan was heard in the house. Dr. Carr took a brand and entered, and following the directions of the father, found the bedroom, but not the patient. The place was in a state of disorder, and was filthy. An abominable stench pervaded it, and the three groundfloor rooms were smeared all over with black vomit and other unutterable excreta of the wretched victim. FINANCIAL. The absence of nearly all the business men, especially those who buy and sell cotton, auses the banks to do a very light business. Many pieces of paper, which under ordinary circumstances would be met at maturity, are now going to protest, generally on account of the makers and indorsers being away. Exchange on New York is selling at 16. Of course there are no transactions in stocks or bonds. Gold is selling in New York at 100%.

COTTON. There are no prices to quote. A few factors are at their places of business, and they receive small quantities of cotton, but there are no buyers. Those who have money to advance on consignments are crippled in their work by the fact that groceries and supplies cannot be shipped promptly. Wagons are bringing in seed cotton, and some of the gins are at work.

Chattanoogs, Tenn. Chattanooga Times, 22d: "The board of health and other physicians met yesterday morning at Dr. Sims's office. It was suggested that a camp should be established on Missionary Ridge, to which families could be removed who were in danger of infection from the presence of yellow-fever cases in the same houses. On motion, a committee consisting of Drs. Wight and VanDeman were appointed to confer with a similar committee from the relief committee in regard to stablishing such a camp. It was resolved that upon the establishment of such a camp the board should appoint a person to take charge of it. Upon calling for reports of cases of yellow-fever, five new cases were re ported. It is proper to state, however, that these cases were of several days' standing, the nature of the disease not having been decided until within the previous twenty-four hours. Dr. Block will act as secretary of the ttee on the examination of nurses. It is hoped that all who are willing to serve as nurses will report to Dr. Block at his store on Market street as soon as possible. The board adjourned to meet at ten o'clock this morning, at Dr. Sims's office. LOCAL NOTICES.

To Housekeepers. The attention of heads of families is re-spectfully invited to the superior quality, in every respect, of Dooley's yeast powder. It is entirely free from adulturation of any kind, and every package contains absolute full weight. Consumers should bear in mind the fact that a strictly pure, full weight bak-ing rowder, although it costs a little more than the adulturated, cheap, light weight or bulk powders, is by far the cheapest, both in fies the system by withdrawing all poisonous matters. thus preventing contagion. This Vapor Bath that has proved so efficacious in eradicating Yellow-Fever from the system, is obtained by an apparatus recently patented for the production of Turkish and Vapor Baths, at the cost of the heat required—about five cents. It can be moved from room to room, and managed by a child, with no danger in the operation. No family can have the Yellow-Fever if its members use it, and it has never been known to fail in draining the poison from the system when used on a Yellow-Fever patient. It has proved more effective than the ordinary Turkish Bathhouse in eradicating Eheumatism, Ashma, Catarrh, Skin Diseases, Dyspepsia, and all Nervous and Debilitating Maladies.

The entire apparatus for Turkish and Vapor Baths, including a case of medicinal agents for the production of six different Medicated Vapor Baths, $10.
